Dear Harry:

I'm glad you liked the yarn. It was one I wrote with pleasure and it was received with pleasure by our readers, especially those who knew you in the old days. There were many who had supposed you had passed out and the story of your success was a real pleasure to them.

Your story of the Baby Parade revives old memories as tho they were yesterday. The old pole is gone and the old crowd is gone but the remembrance that you were the originator of the event as it is today is rightfully yours.

Are you too busy to take a vacation and run up to Asbury a few days? We have made many improvements on the beach front and the town would be a revelation to you. I'm sure you would enjoy the outing.

Yours
