My Dear Pro. Schmitz

Have been trying to figure how I might get to you a comprehensive understanding of all we have been developing these many years respecting the old Spanish history but there appeared no way to make a brief statement. In the 10 yrs and more we have been gathering history material the field has steadily broadened, the contacts with interested persons have grown more numerous, and the consecrated and tireless works of the padres have become more interesting. I was just beginning to knit things together, to substitute organized direction for individual labors, when I was called North. Finally, while
