

in the Red Cross Ambulance Corps during the war. She had married since I knew her, and has a charming home, and is frightfully enthused over the Trail & going right to work making plans for marking and planting.

Our own markers are being renovated and new ones are being made to go between Lofley & Perdido River. Col. Finell has promised to stake out tree locations when we are ready to plant, which I think will be next winter.

We are suffering a business depression here at present. Every one is very hard up and we are looking for a poor potato crop, as we have had no rain for several weeks, and where we plowed thru seas of mud last fall we are now turning up clouds of dust every time we budge out of the gate.
