

So carefully is the honor guarded, it is required that the cross must be returned to the Spanish crown in case of death or of promotion to a higher title. May Herral Ayres live many years in the full enjoyment not only of royal favor, but of the warm appreciation of hundreds of thousands of people who only just now are beginning to realize the great and permanent value of his work to the great Southwest.