Dear Harold:-

Your note of the 8th rec'd.

That little map isn't much good to us. Have more detail on state maps. But the Revenue Board or some outfit there must have large maps showing the Bay and adjoining country. You should have one for your office files also. So try and locate one for me, or find out what department at Washington have them.

Something like Escambia County map on Marsh's desk in his office at Pensacola. I'm getting one like that from Washington.

Our new charts of O. S. T. from San Antonio to St. Augustine are nearing completion and will help you as county lines are defined among other things.
