

IN THE VALLEY OF THE PADRES
SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA

Poets sing of the padres and their missions along this Golden Coast. San Diego has a monument to Father Junipero Serra who administered the many mission building enterprises. Helen Jackson's "Ramona" is a romantic story of the mission period and its fall. Here at San Diego also you may look down into the "Wishing Well" as you did at St. Augustine and let your spirit for the moment dwell with those of that bygone and romantic age.
