

BRIEF FACTS ABOUT FORT WORTH

"The city that never stops growing."

Altitude 670 feet.
Mean temperature 65 degrees.
Area 39.82 square miles.
Population 155,000.
Thirty-six parks, area 8,627 acres.
Payroll two million dollars per month.
Postoffice receipts (1922) $1,789,764.

Eleven railway systems, 18 outlets.
Two interurban lines.
Center of Mid-Continent oil fields.
Nine petroleum refineries.
Forty-one oil field supply houses.
Natural gas for heating and cooking.
U. S. helium gas plant; cost $5,000,000—only one in the world.
Third largest cattle market in America.
Greatest inland cotton market in Texas.
Home of 5,700 railroad employees.
Livestock and packing interests employ 5,200.
280 factories employing 12,000 men.
Leads Southwest in value of manufactures.
Number of automobiles registered (1923) 32,000.
Daily newspaper with largest circulation in the South.
Annual death rate lower than any other American city of equal size.

FORT WORTH TO EL PASO

Bankhead Highway. "State Hwy No. 1" marking will be found practically all of the way to El Paso. Go south two blocks, turn right on Seventh street, follow double car line, 0.1 m. Star-Telegram building on right, Elks Club on right, 0.8 m. to 1 mile viaduct, 1.1 tourist park on left, continue west with car line, avoid paved road to right, 3.4 m. Arlington Heights Masonic building on right, 3.7 m. cross car line, 4.2 m. cross car line, 6.3 m. turn right, follow paved road to Weatherford. Pavement extends to Millsap. Along the lower way dirt road to Strawn—hard surfaced road to seven miles west of Cisco, thence mostly dirt roads to Iatan. West of that place gravelled roads and in fair condition practically all of the way to El Paso.

Some construction work will be encountered along the upper road. Inquire Chamber of Commerce, Mineral Wells, as to best route to follow.

Figures in circles, distances from Fort Worth.

Fort Worth—"Where Golden West and Sunny Southland Meet"